Claims Liberals Wanted To Agitate Instead of Investigate

WILL BE SENT BACK

Five Women in Group Held, Searched and Relieved of Papers

By The Associated Press

HAVANA July 3—The Cuban government clamped 1 Americans into the Tiscornia detention camp today thwarting their plans to investigate indications of what they termed a complete destruction of civil liberties in Cuba

Clifford Odets young liberal playwright and chairman of the commission to investigate social and labor conditions said their project was upset and that they were in doubt as to what recourse to take

Will Be Sent Back

Police said the party probably will be deported aboard the liner Oriente sailing for New York at 8 p m

Reliable sources said the government considered the visitors mission to be more of agitation than of investigation Therefore they were deemed undesirable aliens

Police bore down on the Oriente when she docked last night and surrounded the commission named by the League of American Writers

The members were held in a salon of the ship until 11 p m when they were removed to the dock searched and relieved of all their papers

Among the group which included five women was one passenger Israel Wallich of New York who protested he was not a member of the commission Police said they had evidence to the contrary

Sends Father Cable

For three and a half hours the Americans were not permitted to communicate with the United States but finally an officer allowed Odets to send a cable to his father in Philadelphia

Police had lined the docks last night long before the Oriente arrived A committee of local radicals was barred from the pier

At first it was believed that the Americans would merely be refused permission to land

Manning Johnson one of two Negro members was pulled from his chair by an officer when he disregarded an order to move into a corner

Other members of the commission included Paul Crosbie representative of the American League of Ex Service Men Herman Reissig pastor of King's Highway Congregational church Celeste Starch National Student league and Frank Griffin International Labor Defense

HOUSE LEADERS ACT TO CURB INSURGENTS

DEATH TAKES J. G. FAIRBANKS

Pioneer Marion Inventor and Manufacturer Dies at Home on Pelee Island

FOUND DEAD BY SON TODAY

Identified for Many Years With Power Shovel Industry Headed Own Company

James G Fairbanks 76 pioneer inventor and industrialist of Marion died suddenly of a heart attack this morning at his home at Pelee Island north of Sandusky in Lake Erie where he had lived since his retirement from active business here in 19[illegible]

Mr Fairbanks was stricken after he had arisen and dressed this morning He was found dead on the davenport in the living room of his home by his son John W Fairbanks who has been making his home with his father

As a workman shop superintendent and manufacturer Mr Fairbanks name has been associated with the development of the industrial interests of Marion and the results of his work as an inventor have aided in the progress of the reclamation of land in this and foreign countries

Came Here in 1878

After completing his apprenticeship in the machinist's trade at Urbana and working as a journeyman at different points he came to Marion in March 1878 He first worked at the Marion Steam Shovel Co plant where with the late Henry Barnhart and George King he helped build the first steam shovel in the plant Later he worked as a machinist at the Huber Manufacturing Co plant where he became plant superintendent He remained in the employ of the company for 10 years

His next step was the organization of the Fairbanks Construction Co a repair plant located on the present site of the old Kelly stone quarry on East George street and in addition to this he operated the old Peters stone quarry now the site of the King residence Etowa on Mt. Vernon avenue

In 1902 Mr Fairbanks developed and patented a steam dredge in which he brought out the use of the first power spuds ever to be used on this type of excavating machinery One of his most important inventions was the development of spud arms for dredge boats which prevented them from tipping over and which aided immeasurably in the speed of excavating and the reclamation of thousands of acres of swampland

Company Reorganized

The Fairbanks Construction Co was reorganized by Mr Fairbanks as the Fairbanks Steam Shovel Co in 1903 He headed the organization as president until his retirement The company occupied a large concrete building on Ross avenue for the manufacturing of steam shovels Upon the retirement of Mr Fairbanks the plant became the property of the late John D Owens.

Mr Fairbanks was one of the first manufacturers to use cables instead of chains on excavation machinery and one of his last inventions was a small shovel attachment for a Fordson tractor This was sold by him to the Ford interests at Detroit and is now in use by the company

Aside from his interests in the industrial development of the city he served as a director in the old Marion Brewing company and at one time was a director in the Fahey Banking Co He resigned from his business associations upon

CITROEN, FRANCE'S FORD, STRICKEN IN HOSPITAL

Dies of Lingering Illness Following Major Reverses in Giant Auto Manufacturing Concern.

By JOHN EVANS
Associated Press Foreign Staff.

PARIS July 3—Andre Gustave Citroen 57 the "Henry Ford of France" weakened by grief over the difficulties of his business died in a hospital today after a lingering illness

Citroen's vast automobile plant, once estimated to be worth 2 000 000 000 francs was forced into receivership Dec. 21, 1934, and its founder was forced out of any active management of his companies

The short, dapper engineer tried to remain as a technical adviser but a financial investigation by auditors aroused such opposition from stockholders and creditors that Citroen finally disappeared.

He went to the hospital several weeks ago—too late for an expected operation on his stomach. He weighed only 70 pounds [illegible] normal weight—[illegible] cumbed.

Mourning [illegible] of a daughter, as well as distress over his business had weakened his resistance.

Until he was forced to ask a receivership for his financially crippled company, Citroen — who once dreamed of a tourist route across the Sahara—refused steadfastly to accept any outside control of his affairs

A gambler who had risked a fistful of bank notes on the turn of a card, he was little known personally to the average Frenchman, who never visits the casinos where the maker of their cars was a familiar figure.

MARION CO. WHEAT CROP SET AT 925,000 BUSHELS

Estimate Made From Acreage Figures Ohio To Yield 45 Million Bushels

As Earl H Hanefeld state director of agriculture predicted today a 45 000 000 bushel wheat crop for Ohio this year a check up here resulted in estimates of roughly 925 000 bushels for the wheat yield in Marion county

These estimates for both state and county are well ahead of the 1933 and 1934 crops

On unofficial estimates that the new wheat crop probably will bring about 70 cents a bushel it was predicted that Marion county's wheat crop will be worth around $64 500 this year

Predicts Average Yield

For Ohio Director Hanefeld predicted that the average yield of wheat this year will be between 25 and 30 bushels an acre as compared to a yield of 18 bushels in 1933 and slightly more than that in 1934

The harvest season is scheduled to start late this week in a few fields and to get into full swing throughout Ohio next week barring unfavorable weather

If Director Hanefeld's prediction for a 45 000 000 bushel crop is realized the crop would compare with a 1933 yield of 33 750 000 bushels and a 1934 yield of 34 3[illegible] 000 He estimated present wheat prices would make the Ohio crop worth $30 000 000

Estimates for Marion county were based on records in the county farm agent's office that indicate approximately 37 000 Marion county acres are planted in wheat this year Applying a possible yield of 25 bushels to the acre to this acreage resulted in estimates that the wheat yield of the county may be around 925 000 The estimated price of 70 cents a bushel was the probable value of the new crop according to information available today It was emphasized however that the price may vary when wheat begins to come in

Other Crops Good

Mr Hanefeld asserted that other farm crops are in equally good condition and that there has been no time during the last few years when farmers of the state have been as much encouraged as now

He took cognizance of a general attack by farmers on army worms chinch bugs and the Hessian fly but said Ohio wheat is free from black rust assuring farmers a fine yield of straw

BANK DEPOSITS GAIN BY $4,000,000,000

Does Not Include $2 700 000 000 Rise in Inter Bank and U S Funds

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON July 3 — A growth of $4 000 000 000 in federal reserve member bank deposits was mentioned today by the federal reserve board as an outstanding development of 1934

This increase was exclusive of a rise of about $2 700 000 000 in inter bank and United States government deposits Factors listed as important were treasury expenditures deposits of gold certificates based on newly acquired gold and the issuance of silver certificates

In its annual report the board said the increase in deposits other than bankers deposits was relatively larger at banks in small towns and in the agricultural sections of the country than at banks in larger cities

The board said that bank suspensions during the year were fewer than in any year since 1920 They numbered 57 licensed banks with deposits of $36 793 000.

On other pages the report set out that developments in 1934 were all in the direction of easier credit conditions"

WYANDOT CO. CHILD BURNED BY SPARKLER

Upper Sandusky Mishap First July Fourth Casualty Reported in District.

Quick thinking on the part of Mrs Thomas Reber of Upper Sandusky, probably saved her six-year-old daughter, Martha Lee, from being burned to death after a 'harmless' sparkler ignited her clothing at her home here yesterday Mrs. Reber was in a front room when she heard her daughter's screams from the kitchen. She snatched a coat, threw it about the child's blazing clothing and smothered the flames.

Martha Lee suffered severe burns from her knees to her lower abdomen and was taken to Bucyrus City hospital. Her condition is not considered critical. She was reported as getting along nicely today. Mr. Reber is president of the First National Bank of Upper Sandusky.

This was the first accident reported in this district resulting from premature Fourth of July celebrations. An Associated Press dispatch today reported that advance sales of fireworks indicate that Thursday will be the noisiest Fourth in several years

Manufacturers in Fireworks Station, Ill, a village in which the making of fireworks is the only industry, reported that their business is showing as much as 15 per cent increase over last year. The Associated Press said.

EXPRESS FEARS FOR TVA SETUP

Broadening Amendments Up Next Week and Foes Gird for Fight

CITE UTILITIES DEFEAT

Investigation of RFC Attorney Also Expected To Bring Some Mud Slinging

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON July 3 — Democratic leaders strove today to prevent further revolt in the house against the President and some of his advisers

Privately some house chiefs expressed grave fears about what will happen next week when the house touches the Tennessee valley authority amendments They were concerned lest the chamber repeat the defeat it gave the President yesterday when it overwhelmingly rejected his death sentence for utilities holding companies

The administration has been seeking to broaden TVA's powers through amendments Opponents have waged a fight on the measure

Though some leaders said that the revolt yesterday would satisfy the house for the time being others saw clashes ahead

They apprehensively predicted mud slinging when the rules committee begins its investigation of the activities of Thomas Corcoran RFC attorney and "brain truster" in connection with the utilities bill

They also believed some legislators would insist upon the withdrawal of Charles West of Ohio a former congressman and now liaison man between the President and Capitol hill

The house many members said has been in a resentful mood for weeks They said a number of things contributed to this among them

(1) Repeated concessions by the administration to the senate after similar concessions had been refused the house

(2) A feeling by house members that they were not getting patronage while senators were

(3) The President's apparent willingness to deal and talk with members other than the regularly elected Democratic leaders

(4) Recent activity of "liaison" men and "brain trusters"

Senate Joins House in Utility Inquiry

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON July 3—With the house already arranging an investigation of lobbying on the utility holding company bill the senate interstate commerce committee today voted for a similar inquiry by a special senatorial committee with an appropriation of $150 000

The committee approved a resolution introduced by Sen Black Democrat of Louisiana to authorize creation of a special senate committee of five members to investigate lobbying activities in connection with the holding company bill

The resolution now goes to the senate audit committee headed by

POLICE NAB GOODRICH IN GALLAHER KILLING

Suspect's Arrest in New York Announced by Detroit Officials.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Mich., July 3—Police headquarters here announced today they had been informed that Merion Ward Goodrich, sought since last September in the murder of 11-year old Lillian Gallaher, had been arrested in New York.

The police said they were notified by telephone that Goodrich had been using the name of Raymond Johnson The New York authorities said that the suspect's fingerprints checked with those issued here in the hunt for Goodrich

Still A-Holding

(Will Rogers Special)

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif, July 3—If you are holding in a holding company, why you are still a-holding this morning. Congress voted yesterday that as bad as a lot of 'em are they are better than nothing

I imagine the President knew that there has been swindling and crookedness and he wanted to protect people from it but there they go trying to do something against human nature Anytime a slick salesman meets a $10 bill there is a deal made all it has to be is on the installment plan

There is something about American folks that they think it must be on the level or the company wouldn't trust us to pay other payments. It's never entered our head that the first payment more than pays for it.

Yours,

Will Rogers.

Emphasizes Danger

The [illegible] presentation of the [illegible] that the [illegible] situation especially along the Amur river is so fraught with danger that the Moscow government [illegible] compelled to warn [illegible] in strong terms before something more serious [illegible].

[illegible] officials asserted that the Amur river islands which the [illegible] by virtue of the Sino-Russian treaty signed at Peiping in 1860 are coveted by the Japanese for two reasons

1 Because of their strategic importance

2 Because many of the islands are reputed to be rich in alluvial gold

The dispute centered around the large island in the delta at the confluence of the Amur and Ussuri rivers

Cite Vulnerability

Russia insisted that if the Japanese-sponsored state of Manchukuo held this island, it would place Japanese troops within a few miles of Khabarovsk, capital of the Soviet's far-eastern province

The Soviet also contend that it would place Japanese artillery within range of the vital railway bridge over the Amur, an irreplaceable link in the Soviet's main line of communication to Vladivostok

The Japanese foreign office spokesman said that Tokyo will not reply to Moscow until Gen. Jiro Minami, commander of the Kwantung (continental) army, submits a detailed report on the incidents.

Ickes, Hopkins Work Separated

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 3 In a detailed definition today of his works relief program President Roosevelt placed projects costing more than $25 000 under the jurisdiction of the public works administration and of those costing less than that under the works progress administration

The former is headed by Secretary Ickes and the latter by Harry L. Hopkins

Taking notice of some newspaper references that the large list of small undertakings was a return to the old CWA, Mr Roosevelt picked up a stack of papers on his desk specifying in detail the smaller projects so far approved

He picked up 12 pages outlining the work to be done in Alabama on its allocation of $13 5[illegible] and started reading to newspapermen at his press conference the various individual items undertaken in the program.

The list showed schools, stadia, waterworks and the like in scores of towns and cities

Mr Roosevelt said he would read down the list until someone stopped him. There were [illegible] cries of "enough" but he [illegible] for some time

tor Byrnes, Democrat of South Carolina, which must approve the appropriation. The special committee would be appointed by Vice President Garner

The house rules committee plans to open an inquiry next Monday under authority of a resolution approved by the house yesterday

The lobby investigation was touched off by an accusation by Rep Brewster, Republican of Maine. He said Thomas Corcoran RFC attorney and an author of the utilities bill, threatened to halt the passamaquoddy tidal project in Maine if Brewster voted against the "death sentence" advocated by President Roosevelt.

Envision Hot Fight

The inquiry is expected to provide some hot clashes. Critics of the "brain trust" of which Corcoran is generally listed as a member—and of administration methods in pressing its losing fight in the house for compulsory abolition of "unnecessary" holding companies plan to take the field with vigor

Foes of the holding companies also are preparing for the hearing Senator Wheeler, Democrat of Montana, a leader in the fight for the death sentence, said the inquiry would disclose a "massed drive" by utility concerns to "blackjack" employes and investors into sending protests against the "death sentence" to congress

On the other hand, Philip H Gadsden chairman of a committee of utility executives, said the companies' fight was "perfectly clean, open and aboveboard"

He said the companies were exercising their "constitutional rights" in seeking to "protect our property when it is in jeopardy"

The compromise talk arose after the house turned down again yesterday President Roosevelt's demand for the death sentence and approved a milder utilities regulation bill 323 to 81. The measure now goes back to the senate, which already has adopted it in a form providing compulsory abolition.

Offers Concession

Wheeler offered a concession under which two holding companies would be permitted in each integrated, regional system of operating companies He said that under the house bill the securities commission would have the power to permit many more holding firms to each system, while the senate bill calls for the abolition of all "unnecessary" holding concerns by 1942

Secretary Ickes emphasizing that the "Quoddy" project is "going forward," said "I don't think any threats have been made"

Fletcher Backs Roosevelt Stand

Brooks Fletcher of Marion, eighth district congressman, and Charles V. Truax of Bucyrus, congressman-at-large, supported President Roosevelt in their votes yesterday on the utilities holding company bill, The Associated Press reported in a news dispatch from Washington

Both stood with the President in his fights against (1) a motion that took away the "death sentence" for holding companies and (2) a defeated move to take away authority of the securities exchange commission to eliminate even discretionary power of abolition

Not until after the President had been refused his principal request did Congressmen Fletcher and Truax vote for the house bill adopted yesterday, as the only remaining measure available for controlling holding companies

A composite of roll calls of Ohioans in the house on the utilities bill, as compiled by The Associated Press follows

1 Is the vote on the motion to substitute the house bill which did not contain the "death sentence," for the senate bill which did

2 Is the vote on the motion to eliminate from the house bill the section giving the securities exchange commission power to simplify the holding company structure

3 Is on passage of the house bill.

COUNCIL AT BUCYRUS TO ACT ON GAS RATE

Proposal Will Be Placed Before City Officials at Meeting July 16.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, O., July 3 — An ordinance proposing a change in the gas rate here will come before the city council when it meets on July 16 it was announced after last night's council meeting The new rate proposal is expected to be a compromise between the present rate and the rate asked by the gas company.

John Carroll, Bucyrus city solicitor, said today that city officials "expect" the rate settlement proposal to be identical with the rate schedule now in effect in Galion. The Galion rate, which also is expected to be offered to the gas company as a settlement schedule for Marion, Ashland and Lorain, calls for $1 for the first 500 cubic feet of gas, 55 cents a thousand for the next 4,500 feet and 50 cents a thousand for all above that. Under this schedule, users of 5,000 cubic feet a month would pay a monthly bill of $3.45.

Solicitor Carroll, however, said Bucyrus council has not "definitely" decided whether the Galion rate will be offered, although its tentative plans now call for that schedule

C. F. Bronson of Marion, district manager for the gas company, and Neil McCarron, local manager, were present at last night's council meeting.

OHIO FLOOD PROJECT COSTS TO BE BARED

By The Associated Press

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O. July 3—Refusal of the state board of control to approve a $355,000 allotment for the Muskingum conservancy district brought the promise of conservancy officials today that complete information concerning expenditures would be made available for an inquiry by the board

The control board already has allotted $1 273 000 of the $2,000,000 appropriated by the state for purchase of land Dale Dunifon assistant attorney general, said that much needed land had not been purchased and the $2 000,000 would be insufficient

C. C Chambers chief engineer of the district said however that "practically all of the land necessary for the construction of dams has been acquired and a great deal of the right-of-way for railroads and other utility relocations also has been purchased"

Chambers said the district would not ask for more than the $2,000,000 already appropriated from the state The control board is expected to make an inspection of the district later this week

The remaining $5 000 000 is to be paid by the conservancy district.

"It was understood from the beginning that the conservancy district could not raise its money until the appraisement roll had been prepared and bonds sold. It was the understanding that the state would advance its money promptly to allow engineers to start construction work and relieve unemployment."

MERCY KILLER FACES MURDER INDICTMENT

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 3 — Assistant State's Attorney Richard Regan said today the state intends to ask a murder indictment against William Ganschaw, 55, mechanic held for helping his wife to die as an act of mercy

Ganschaw called the police to his North Side flat yesterday morning, they found his invalid wife Elizabeth, dead after 10 years of painful illness Ganschaw told of rigging 20 feet of hose to the gas jet of handing the end to his wife and watching her die.

"We were both discouraged and we thought we might as well end it all. I put the end of the hose in my mouth after she threw her arms back, and I went to sleep

"But I woke up. I couldn't stand the taste of gas"

Regan taking charge of the investigation, was told by the Ganschaw's daughters –

"Father was exceptionally kind to mother, she often begged him, and us, to do something to end her misery. She suffered terribly from neuritis and diabetes and three months ago she had a stroke which paralyzed her left side"

Ganschaw's finger nails were examined in Northwestern university's crime laboratory, and West avenue police announced traces of skin had been found which they believed came from his wife's chin.

HIRING OF ROOSEVELT KIN BY HAYS SCORED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON July 3—Rep Culkin Republican of New York says Will Hays hired John Boettiger, President Roosevelt's son-in-law, to keep from being ousted as head of the motion picture industry.

In a statement placed in the Congressional Record Culkin proposed federal regulation of the industry and outlawing of block booking He is supporting a bill by Rep. Pettengill Democrat of Indiana, to declare motion pictures a public utility.

The New Yorker asserted that Hays, former postmaster general and chairman of the Republican national committee, instead of being a "Moses leading the movies out of the cesspools" was "in fact a lobbyist whose sole function was to keep the public off the producers"

MAN AND MULES

Jury Says Husband Worth $400, Price of Span, After 55.

By The Associated Press

ATHENS, O. July 3—A $400 judgment awarded by an Athens county jury in effect appraises the value of a man of 55 years to his family at a sum about equivalent to that of a good span of mules, Judge O. F. Rowland said.

The estate of Daniel McPherson, killed in a crossing accident was awarded the amount in a suit for $2 900 against the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, alleging negligence Judge Rowland, in granting a new trial, said in part

"The jury * * * has said that a man in reasonably good health at the age of 55 living with his wife, is of the technical value of only $400 to such wife during the time of his probable life from his 55th year forward to his probable death. * * * As this verdict now stands the value of a reasonably healthy man to his wife and family at the age of 55 years forward is found to be about the equivalent in value of a good span of mules"

SHIPS MAY BE PUT UNDER ICC CONTROL

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 3 — The senate today took up the Eastman bill to put water carriers under the inter-state commerce commission. Administration leaders expressed only half-hearted hope it would get through before being displaced by the omnibus bank bill due for consideration soon.

The water carrier is one of six measures introduced by Sen. Wheeler, Democrat of Montana, on behalf of Joseph B. Eastman, railroad coordinator under the ICC. It proposes to consolidate under the ICC the regulation of water traffic now partly controlled by the shipping board of the department of commerce

Sen Robinson, Democrat of Arkansas, majority leader, who foresees considerable opposition warned that if debate extended too long the bill would have to give way to the bank measure.

S HEAR INISTER

ance of human comforts and happiness first Although he pointed out that this may be subdivided under various headings such as economic religious and intellectual the general tendency is to regard economic or social security as of paramount importance

Ready Listeners.

Because we are living in an extremely insecure period people are ready to listen to and respond to nearly any proposition conceived ostensibly to safeguard them and make their lot better Rev David[ian] said He voiced the belief that because people realize how insecure their situation is many of them have become followers of men who have presented schemes for distribution of wealth most of them impractical

People naturally want to be loved and appreciated and for that reason affection or affectionate response—is essential for human welfare and happiness Rev Davidian said He declared that although we may be able to get along with a shortage of everything else we cannot thrive without affection

Recognition for even those persons who are apparently obscure and unimportant was declared advisable The speaker gave several illustrations of men who at the outset were seemingly insignificant but who became really great and notable He said it is impossible to tell who will be a success

Uses Japan as Illustration.

Rev Davidian expressed the opinion that failure of the United States to recognize Japan by granting it people right of American citizenship and failure of this country France and Great Britain to grant Japan equal recognition in the naval alignment is the source of our present unsatisfactory relationship with the Oriental nation

Adventure was pronounced an important factor in life and human happiness but the speaker emphasized that it must be the right sort of adventure He explained how some people take the wrong course in this quest and how the result is crime and tragedy

The meeting was in charge of Gene Hill who presided for the first time as the new president of Rotary The Kiwanians part in the program was directed by Harry F Margwarth Kiwanis president The speaker was introduced by Cutler A McGrew member of the Marion Kiwanis club who formerly lived in Lima and who arranged for the Lima minister's appearance on the program

P K Burns was introduced as a new member of the Rotary club

Your Health

Sunstroke

Recently I told you about the dangers of excessive exposure to the sun Today I want to tell you about sunstroke This is rather common during the summer months when the weather is extremely hot and there is great humidity The city ambulances are daily summoned to pick up persons overcome by the heat

Some persons are susceptible to sunstroke while others never suffer although they spend prolonged periods in the hot sun As a rule sunstroke is more commonly encountered in elderly persons But it may afflict anyone who is long exposed to the strong rays of the sun Often a young child or adult engaged in some vigorous game or sport will have it

Sunstroke is caused by a disturbance in the mechanism having to do with the heat regulation of the body Something goes wrong with this and then there is trouble similar to that caused by failure of the thermostat of a furnace

The victim suddenly complains of severe headache and dizziness He becomes pale and weak He may be unable to see is sick at his stomach and may even vomit These symptoms are followed by collapse and unconsciousness

The skin of the sufferer is clammy and wet The pulse is extremely rapid but very weak The victim breathes quickly and appears to be suffering from severe pain The pupils of the eyes become dilated A physician should always be called in such a case

There is a severe form of sunstroke which if handled improperly may prove fatal In this the sufferer quickly lapses into unconsciousness

Until the physician arrives keep the patient in a cool and shady room The clothing should be removed and copious amounts of water given

If the body is hot and the temperature high a bath kept cool with ice will help This treatment should be continued until the temperature falls below 102 degrees Fahrenheit Massage the skin vigorously so that the circulation will be stimulated

We often hear about cases of slight sunstroke or a touch of the sun as it is more commonly called These should never be neglected The sufferer should then [illegible] a [illegible] several days The diet should be simple consisting [illegible] of fruit [illegible]

DAVEY CUT HURTS MT. GILEAD SCHOOL

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, July 3—Unless funds can be obtained from another source, veto of part of the appropriation bill by Gov. Martin L. Davey is expected to lead to practical discontinuance of one of the most outstanding departments of the Mt. Gilead High school. The school will lose not only the revenue which was set aside by the legislature but also will lose $1,000 in federal funds which went to pay a part of the salary of the Smith-Hughes agricultural instructor.

The same financial difficulty will be encountered at Chesterville where a new agricultural course was instituted last year and at Edison and Iberia where Smith-Hughes courses are to be installed.

MOUND STREET WORK DELAYED FEW DAYS

Project, To Be Started Soon, Will Give Employment to 25

Work on Mound street improvements from Darius street to Columbia street, approved as an FERA project this week, will not be started for at least a week, Erwin Nesper, county FERA works manager said today.

Once the project has been started, it will require the services of about 25 men for a month's time, he estimated.

City Service Director C. K. Metzer said the section to be improved is a dirt street and that it will be rebuilt with stone. The city will furnish materials, engineering and supervision and FERA will furnish labor. Total cost is estimated at $7,157.

MEET the WIFE

MRS. HOMER S. CUMMINGS

When Mrs. Homer S. Cummings tells a story, and she tells many good ones, her most intent listener is her husband, the attorney general, who never is far from the side of his small, plump, dark-haired wife no matter how large the party. Mrs Cummings is famous for her informal Sunday night suppers, where only those are invited who can talk confidently. And they do. She likes to decorate with sheafs of calla lilies . . . thereby starting a Washington fad. She is an omnivorous reader and has traveled all over Europe many times. Gov. Laffoon of Kentucky has just appointed Mrs. Cummings "Admiral of Rock Castle river," but her husband calls her "Colonel Pickle." She calls him "Pickle." They grin when asked to explain the "Colonel."

Horse Show for Amateur Riders Marks Party Her

ONE of the cleverest affairs of the summer was the horse show for amateur riders at which Mr and Mrs David Walter Evans of 346 West Center street entertained yesterday for the pleasure of their daughter Loraine Evans, who was celebrating her eleventh birthday anniversary.

A fenced-in ring where the amateur riders displayed their mounts and tents and canopies provided for the gallery of guests transformed the rear of the Evans yard into a good-sized show ring. Refreshments were served throughout the morning and following the show a picnic lunch was served for the riders and guests from a table laid in the grape arbor.

Entered in the amateur class were Helen Louise Schaffner, John Schaffner, Joe Bindley, Blanche O'Connell, Patricia Dodd and birthday celebrant who displayed their horsemanship by riding Dr. King, Richelieu, Princess and Ritzy Rex of the Doc Moreland stables. Guest riders included George King Brown who rode his own mount, Wesley Gatewood, whose mount was a mule and Ann Gatewood on her Shetland pony. Completing the show and not riding in competition were Miss Geraldine Hord, Mrs Wilfred Schaffner, Mrs Evans, Miss Blanche O'Connell, Walter E. Davis, "Doc" Moreland. The last named was in charge of the show and judges were Miss Hord, Miss Mary Olive O'Connell and Mr Davis.

Blue, red and yellow ribbons were awarded in each of the following classes: thoroughbred class, John Schaffner; chair ride, Wesley Gatewood; saddle and unsaddle, Patricia Dodd; eight-year-old, John Schaffner; walk and trot, John Schaffner and Joe Bindley; canter, Blanche O'Connell; two-abreast, Helen Louise Schaffner and Patricia Dodd; seat and hands, Loraine Evans; best rider any age, Loraine Evans. The sweepstakes award on points were won by Patricia Dodd and John Schaffner.

The guest list included friends of the celebrant who have joined her in celebrating the anniversary since her second birthday and the gallery included a number of adults.

DY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

[illegible] this morning that Mara Alhern had given you [illegible] you were back and we [illegible] a [illegible]. I rang up the [illegible] and they gave me your address. Rex, why [illegible] you [illegible] Have you forgotten everything?"

He was looking at her, staring [illegible] the woman who with her husband had rescued him [illegible] when he had [illegible] of the Pacific, who had taken him to their home [illegible] unconscious [illegible] him when he awoke blind.

They had done for him all that human beings could do. They had kept his rescue a secret [illegible] he had asked them to. They had [illegible] him [illegible] indulged every reasonable whim of his broken body and his darkened soul. They had [illegible] greatest luxury and paid [illegible] sums to the greatest specialist in the hope of restoring his sight.

At last he had been cured and only a month afterwards he had slipped out of their gates during the night because he knew they would not let him go in the way he wanted to and because he knew he could never thank them for what they had done.

And because this woman had told him that she loved him and that without him her life would not be worth living.

Of course he realized afterwards that he had been a little crazy. His brain must have been unhinged by the joy of regaining his sight.

"I can only think you must have been mad," the woman said.

"I was," he answered. "What I did was unforgivable. There is nothing worse than ingratitude."

"It doesn't matter now that I've found you again," she said. She was holding his hands, standing very close to him, looking passionately, exultantly into his eyes.

She was not beautiful. Her features were too large. But she was attractive with her eager wide red lips, her long pale golden face powdered with freckles, framed in the thick platinum hair with thickly painted lashes.

And she was supremely elegant. Her severe tailor-made costume, her little grey turban with a single large pearl in it, her discreet but costly onyx and diamond bangles, the grey moire pochette with the tiny diamond initials, all was perfect. The impeccable combination of wealth and taste.

Rex Moore's face was grim as he disengaged his hands and put her gently into an armchair.

Her eyes filled with reproach again.

"Rex, I hardly knew you. Tell me about it. What did you do it for? Why did you never send word?"

"I knew that I could never thank you," he answered. "And I couldn't go on living on our kindness and your husband's generosity. I'm afraid I can't find words to explain. But I had to get on my own feet again. I went to New York. It took me two months to work my way there. And I picked up a living in one way and another. And then I suppose my mind got well again like my body had done and I wanted to come back to England and get on with my job. That's all."

"All," she echoed. "It tells me nothing." But she did not seem to mind or to be particularly interested in what he had done during those months. It was so plain that all she cared about was that she had found him again.

"How is your husband?" he asked.

"Dead."

"Oh, I am sorry."

"You needn't be. I'm not."

He looked at her with something like fear in his eyes.

"Don't be a hypocrite," she said. "You know quite well Ferdy and I were nothing to each other. For years we had been only good friends—long before you came into my life. Ferdy had his compensations like all men. I had none. I wasn't that kind. I couldn't take up with just any man because he was a man."

"I am sorry," Rex Moore repeated. His long angry mouth was hard. In his face was nothing that she looked for.

"Sorry because I am free?" the woman asked. Her voice had dropped; there was no drawl in it, but a breathless question.

Rex looked at her with his wintry eyes.

"I [illegible] have [illegible] to thank him," he said dully.

"You [illegible] me? You have never thought of me at all."

"Often."

"Not [illegible] with me. You know what we [illegible] before you ran away [illegible] I understand, Rex, you ran away [illegible] of me. You were afraid of me. You didn't want to be ungrateful to Ferdy [illegible] know I loved you. [illegible] You must have [illegible] all the time you were [illegible] was alive. Now he's dead there's nothing between us."

"What did he die of?"

"Two months after you left us he fell off his horse and it rolled over him. [illegible] he was drunk. But Rex [illegible] You've had [illegible] You must see there's nothing between us now."

Wanda, Friday, Gets a shock

- The - Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND

The Woman Thou Gavest—

Almost every attractive married man is tied to some woman who is unworthy of him—if you can believe the other woman.

Lot of heartaches and unnecessary expense could be avoided if a woman could only be satisfied with the face the Lord gave her and a man could only be contented with the wife that Fate wished on him.

Gentle hints seem to make no more impression on the average man than snow flakes on hot sand but when a woman says "Gimme" he knows pretty exactly what she means.

A man may fall in love with a woman because he sympathizes with her trouble—but if he stays in love with her it's because she never tells him her troubles. A man can forgive a woman for almost anything except for suffering.

It is hard to understand why some women ever married the men they did until you reflect that most of the courting these days is done in the motor car where the lights are dim.

No girl is so unreasonable nowadays as to expect to be the only woman a man ever loved. She merely wants to be the one who made him stop loving all the others.

To be able to say the right thing at the right moment is fairly easy for the average woman but to be able to shut up at the right moment requires more superhuman self control than any mere woman possesses.

A husband may be good natured, save the little woman trouble, but that doesn't mean that he won't balk at being served a mealette of canned soup and cold cuts.

Any man's secret thought: "Alas, if God had only created all women sweet, placid, beautiful—and dumb."

The Stars Say--

For Thursday, July 4

THE HOLIDAY spirit holds sway unhampered, aided and abetted by the reign of propitious stars. There will be great activity and commotion in pursuit of the conventional merriment and celebration of the national holiday with the accent on youth and the pursuit of youthful indulgences. Social, domestic and romantic interests predominate although those more sedately inclined may find it a good time for new plans and constructive work on fresh projects.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a successful and active year with much of a constructive nature in the way of launching new plans and meritorious projects. The social, domestic and affectional ties also may find active expression and all pertaining to art and literature should flourish.

A child born on this day may have diversified talents, being energetic and practical as well as having splendid artistic or literary possibilities.

Notable nativity: Calvin Coolidge, ex-President of the United States.

For Friday, July 5

ACCORDING TO the rule of important planets this should be a day of quite sudden and unforeseen developments in connection with [illegible] interests. This may be in affiliation with mergers, combines, [illegible] corporation or secret societies which may cause a radical change in environs and contacts. However the unexpected benefits may encounter [illegible] obstacles if [illegible] opposition.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of sudden visitations which may cause a radical change in the surroundings, contacts and interests. The latter will thrive best in affiliation with mergers, combines or in secret agreements. There may be much to overcome with many worries and anxieties but triumph should crown determination and well-directed energies.

A child born on this day may be talented, original and independent, with high endeavors in new fields.

Notable nativity, Barney Barnato, African promoter.

Venezuela has required that all meat and meat products exported by water must be accompanied by an official veterinarian's certificate of inspection and approval.

Only Madge, Dicky See Father Off on Trip

"WHEN THE [illegible] asleep?"

[illegible] I [illegible] while Dicky [illegible] telegram [illegible] my father [illegible]

I was afraid [illegible] my father [illegible] was [illegible] his safety [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

I knew [illegible] restless [illegible] baggage [illegible] steadily [illegible] men [illegible] always waiting in the car [illegible] strolling [illegible] [illegible] careless [illegible] sure that [illegible] stranger [illegible] should have any opportunity for espionage he himself waiting in his room with [illegible] him.

Minutes Seem Hours

I [illegible] that the time [illegible] was a torture to me now for I [illegible] his safety. I had the [illegible] with him and now the [illegible] on his journey. Would Dicky [illegible] me out of that room? I asked myself impatiently, although he had been gone but a matter of seconds.

Then when it seemed that I must shriek aloud at the delay I turned my restless eyes from my father's room to that occupied by the boys and saw my husband coming out of the [illegible] there had been no slight sound to betray its opening. As he turned and with infinite caution closed it after him I saw that he had a key in his hand. So I was not surprised when he stooped, still moving cautiously, and locked the door after him.

"Sound asleep," he said when I rose and met him with tense inquiry in my face. "They're making the famous seven look like also rans, but I'm taking no chances. Come on now. We must get dad out of here. Everybody even our irrepressible Katie is staying behind closed doors. He has said goodby to everybody and wants only you and me for the final goodbye."

He put his hand under my elbow and then feeling me shiver slipped an arm around me.

"Steady, old dear," he whispered. "Buck up. I know all you're feeling, but you must send dad away with a smile, you know. That's the way he'll want to remember you."

"You're sure he won't think I don't care?" I asked inanely.

My husband tightened the clasp of his arm but his voice lost a mething of its tenderness.

Won't Fail Them

"You know better than that," he said with a crispness that seemed to put iron in my spine. "Now snap out of it and be your own brave self until he's out of sight. Then I'll let you cry your eyes out."

"Thank you," I gulped. "I'm all right now. I won't fail him—or you."

"I know you won't, sweetheart," my husband said, his voice tender again. And with his arm around me I went down the corridor to my father's room and knocked upon his door.

He opened it at once and I guessed that he had been pacing the floor.

"Well," he said with a testiness most unlike him.

"So [illegible] asleep," Dicky said inconsequently, taking my father's topcoat from the back of the nearest chair and extending it toward him. "May I help you, sir?"

"Thanks, Richard." My father's voice was calm again as he slipped into the [illegible] I [illegible] Dicky the emergency bag which he always keeps [illegible] his person and which I knew held a small revolver and [illegible] papers in a cunningly concealed secret compartment. I knew that to no one save myself, Dicky, Harry or Lillian would he give up that precious bag for an instant's handling. Then he turned to me and swept me into his arms.

"This is our goodby, my darling. Before the men downstairs I want only a wave of your hand. Come on, Richard. We must hurry."

Madge Holds Up Bravely as Father Leaves the Farm

IN THESE later years of his retirement from active service I have often feared that age and infirmity were creeping over my father as they undeniably are over Dicky's mother. But as with his hand under my elbow he hurried me along the corridor and down the stairs he set a pace that taxed my powers—and I quite preen myself upon my prowess as a pedestrian.

I decided that either I had been mistaken in my estimate of his physical condition, or else the necessity for this secret and dangerous mission had endowed him with his oldtime zeal and a spurt of false strength which later would take fearful toll of his vitality.

"Everything ready, boys?" he asked in the manner of an executive who knows what the answer will be.

"Yes, sir, everything," one of the men replied, holding the tonneau door open.

"Glass all right?"

"Yes, sir. Gray saw to that."

"All right. When I get in, see that both rear doors are locked. Both of you sit in the front seat, and keep your eyes open."

He increased the pressure of his hand upon my arm ever so slightly, and swung me toward my husband.

"Take care of her, Richard," he said [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] A [illegible] [illegible]

He gave me a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] apparent [illegible] [illegible] leaving [illegible]

I [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] I stood [illegible] [illegible] Dicky's [illegible] [illegible] my face I raised my hand and waved as the car in the drive [illegible] [illegible] around.

Madge Carries On

And then [illegible] my husband put his arm [illegible] carrying me back into the house he deposited me in a [illegible] in the library [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Her

"You may cry now," he said [illegible]

But [illegible] my father's [illegible] spirit [illegible] [illegible] Dicky's [illegible] [illegible] upright.

"I haven't time to cry," [illegible] [illegible] him. "If my father and my husband can carry [illegible] so magnificently I certainly [illegible] from the weakness of tears. When do you have to start for Pat[illegible] to meet that girl?"

He did not answer me at once but instead put his hand beneath my chin and lifted my face so that [illegible] into my eyes.

"You['re] [illegible]," he said tenderly at last, and the words were like [illegible] my spirit. Then he [illegible] drawing me to my [illegible] walked with me to the door and [illegible] the stairs.

"I'm going [illegible] at once," he said, "that is, if you will promise me [illegible]."

Happy New Year (Fiscal)

It's customary at the beginning of a new year to enumerate the blessings it is expected to bring The beginning of the federal government's new fiscal year 1935-36 provides the same opportunity

Because the country is apprehensive of the consequences of the largest national debt in its history—a debt that is going to increase even further—public finance isn't a pleasant topic Still back of the fear back of the $28,000,000,000 debt and back of the annual deficits which are making the debt heavier are certain silver lined facts As a change from the usual procedure it might be helpful to look at the silver lining

For one thing revenue is almost as great as it was before the depression In the last balanced budget year 1929-30 the revenue total was $4,178,000,000 In the fiscal year just ended the revenue total was $3,800,000,000

The so-called ordinary expenditure of the national government has not increased materially under the Roosevelt administration Most of the $8,000,000,000 which represents the new deal's cost to date was spent for the purpose of making jobs or of providing a dole

Approximately half the new deal's direct cost furthermore is balanced by assets—$870,000,000 in preferred bank stock owned by RFC and $2,800,000,000 in gold representing profit from dollar devaluation

Low interest rates a left-handed blessing of the depression enable the government to carry its greater deficit at approximately the same cost as the smaller pre-depression deficit The prospect of new taxes furthermore promises to keep government securities attractive to investors for the simple reason that they are the best preventive against destructive inflation

In short it could be worse though everyone wishes it were better

Vague, But Promising

The fact the department of labor is giving its official sanction to Edward F McGrady's experiment to end industrial unrest in Toledo calls attention to the assistant labor secretary's vague but promising plan Mr McGrady has had much practical experience with strikes Toledo has been having an unusual amount of trouble with them Perhaps the man and the city will be able to work out a solution

There are fixed requirements for a solution that really will work First it must embody the principle of arbitration wholly independent of coercion Second it must be equally binding on both parties to the dispute Third it must be able to command the confidence of labor of employers and of the general public

There is nothing new in Mr McGrady's plan as outlined except his recommendation that the state of Ohio establish a department of labor That seems to represent a later step the first being establishment in Toledo of a board of arbitration that can handle the problems of what has been called the stronghold of the American Federation of Labor

Might Mr McGrady's experiment mean therefore that the American Federation of Labor has been pressing its advantage in Toledo not wisely but too well? Officials of the organization will be sensitive to any solution which seems to restrict organized labor too closely At the same time remembering how the Chevrolet strike was called without their approval they may welcome a means of making Toledo members aware of their responsibility as individuals in a national movement Mr McGrady may prove helpful in more ways than one

Endurance

Twenty-seven days of monotonous flying in the air—long enough to go around the earth a couple of times—will be good for newspaper headlines long after Fred and Al Key the new endurance champions have faded from view It's a good trick for anyone who can do it

What it may be in addition to a stunt is problematic Americans like to rationalize such things but they frequently get into difficulty Flagpole sitting armchair rocking interment while living—they all may prove something besides human capacity for monotony but not much

The Key brothers who endured their four-week grind over Mississippi where it's pretty warm this time of year got a lot of gratifying attention Maybe they will be able to capitalize on their fame It's a safe bet though that the thing they like best right now is their release from an obligation to themselves [illegible] must have become pretty heavy before they finally decided to give up and [illegible] [illegible]

Independence Day

Most Americans [illegible] day as a [illegible] holiday [illegible] the [illegible] independence [illegible] of the [illegible]

That [illegible] speakers and writers [illegible] what it [illegible] attention [illegible] the [illegible] and there will be many [illegible] called [illegible] for the people [illegible] independence in a [illegible] and changing [illegible]

Obviously [illegible] able under the [illegible] It will be argued [illegible] that freedom is threatened by the concepts of the present government and by others that the [illegible] freedom is being enlarged by the same concepts One faction will point with pride and the other faction will view with alarm No matter what the opinion [illegible] it will be expressed without censorship and [illegible] with [illegible] restraint

That it would seem is the most significant thing about Independence Day 1935 The country is [illegible] It doesn't know where it is going and it isn't sure where it has been But through the threat [illegible] uncertainty and the natural desire of many citizens to put an end to uncertainty by positive action of one kind or another the American principle of personal freedom still is firm While it remains that way Independence day will continue to be an annual occasion for adding one more year to the life of freedom in the United States

Invaders

Americans feel better because they know the public treasury is taking extra precautions to guard its gold reserve A new strongbox will be constructed at Fort Knox Kentucky to hold gold transferred from New York City and Philadelphia

The idea is to get the gold away from the coast where it would be easy prey for invaders For instance gold has been moved from San Francisco to Denver proving that invasion is likely on either coast Military experts have figured out it would be just about impossible for the enemy to get past the Rockies or Appalachians

Preparedness is a mighty good thing A stitch in time saves nine Better be careful than sorry Uncle Sam didn't corner all that gold just to have some outsider come in and take it away There's always a chance that an invader might get past the first the coastal defense the marines the infantry the cavalry the artillery and do a lot of damage

It would be interesting for the government to tell more about its precautions Apparently invasion is expected momentarily from one quarter or another yet the people don't know what nation to start hating That looks like an oversight but maybe an invader hasn't been selected yet

A Before and After Story

Though virtually neglected as a part of public policy in controlling the sale of alcoholic beverages the growth of temperance is indicated in government estimates on consumption of wine beer and whisky during the first fiscal year since repeal of the 18th amendment

Between the fiscal year 1917 and the fiscal year 1935 the population of the United States increased 26,000,000 In 1917 there were 20 wet states Today there are 37 Yet the consumption of alcoholic beverages is less now than it was 18 years ago

The volume of beer is smaller by one sixth whisky one third and wine one third The other part of the story which may help to explain the first part is told in terms of revenue Wine which gave the government an income of $9,830,000 in 1917 now provides $17,138,000 Whisky which brought only $194,001,000 in 1917 now produces $246,258,000 Beer alone accounted for $150,000,000 of the $415,000,000 derived from liquor taxes during the fiscal year

Are heavy taxes providing a subsidy to bootleggers? That is the question that can't be answered in trying to discover how much the habits of consumers changed during the prohibition era There is a wide difference of opinion At one extreme is the claim that the country consumes as much bootleg beverage as taxed beverage At the other extreme is the claim that bootlegging has been made a negligible factor by strict enforcement of tax laws

It is easy to forget that repeal of the 18th amendment was [illegible] by the supposition that temperance would be given official [illegible] afterward If Americans actually are becoming temperate it is less a tribute to an official policy than to their own inclination aided by purchasing power so limited that alcoholic beverages must be classified as a luxury

Behind The News In

Washington And Wall Street

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON July 3 — The utility lobby is being blamed for the house insurrection against President Roosevelt It did its part The bombardment of letters from widowed and orphaned investors back home was very effective But there was more behind the insurrection than the lobby

The blunt truth is a larger number of Democratic congressmen are coming around to the view that they must stop Mr Roosevelt that he is going too far Their secret resentment and public praise of the administration is an old story But what has happened since the new tax program was submitted is a new and more important one

You can get the proper slant on it if you consider that a switch of four votes would have defeated the new deal shipping bill in the house last week that there are Democrats now working privately to block and postpone action on Mr Roosevelt's tax program

In other words the silent stop Roosevelt movement among members of his own party has gained unexpected headway

Chances

The President has always put down such backstage surges before although he has not been up against anything quite like this For one thing his patronage and relief bait is now running low Most of the patronage already has been distributed The relief setup is being conducted in such a way that it does not provide many fish for the seals Also the full force of the White House legislative lobby (Messrs West Burja and Coreman) was thrown into the House utility contest but could not even make the issue close

However the prestige of the White House is great If skillfully used it should save the remainder of the program

Certain well advised financial interests do not think so That is why the stock market has been holding up so well in the face of adverse new deal moves

Thoughts

To show you how Democratic congressmen now are talking in the cloak rooms

A conservative Democratic senator makes no secret of the off the record belief that Mr Roosevelt's taxation program will defeat him for reelection next year He says so at every opportunity

Several southern Democratic house members have talked over the advisability of party realignments the abolition of the Democratic and Republican parties and the institution of a Conservative and a Liberal party They think it is coming soon

This of course is just talk but it discloses the underlying excitement in congress

Gold Caches

Fanciful rumors have been generated by the treasury's move to cache its gold in the interior These center around supposition that the government fears an invasion or has some inside reason to expect one

What encourages the fantasies is the treasury effort to keep such moves a secret A Washington newsman discovered the recent plans to build a cache in a Louisville Treasury officials when asked confirmed the fact somewhat reluctantly

The real institution behind the program seems to be [illegible] Morgenthau [illegible] it was a bad idea to keep most of the gold of the country in New York and San Francisco in these modern days of airplane bombers when nations [illegible] war without declaring [illegible] He had no [illegible] idea

Most of the big [illegible] Fort Knox near Louisville They will [illegible] out of [illegible] Mississippi [illegible] move was [illegible] portant as it seems

Fight

There has been an [illegible] over State Secretary Hull's memo opposing the export bounty plan for cotton Textile men have descended on the cabinet textile committee demanding an explanation All they can find out is that the committee asked different departments to submit views that the State Department was the only one to oppose it flatly others being less positive

The textile people have started counter action At the annual convention of the American cotton garment industry S C Lampert criticized the State Department for not realizing that other nations already have done their tariff retaliating

Apparently this is to be a good fight

BY JAMES McMULLIN

NEW YORK July 3 — The Federation of Labor has its Wagner-Connery law—but that doesn't mean smooth sailing in labor relations from now on Far from it At least 50 important corporations—several of them in the steel industry—are ready to take the law into the courts the minute their workers try to use it to promote unionization Moreover New York big timers are confident it will be upset on constitutional grounds The industrialist prophecy that the law will breed capital-labor strife is likely to come true—but largely because the industrialists themselves will refuse to accept it as binding

Astute New Yorkers express the belief that the President expects the law to be nullified by the supreme court—and is counting on that to further his plans for broadening federal control of business Organized labor is already predisposed in favor of a constitutional amendment to that end and would certainly be much more militant about it if its Magna Charta were ruled invalid

The President and the top men of the federation may not love each other any more than they did a few months ago—but signs are multiplying that they'll have to team up in 36 whether they want to or not

Save

One of the signs that both the White House and Bill Green would do well to heed is Louis Waldman's demand for a Labor party led by the American Federation He has spotlighted a movement that has been making quiet underground progress for some time—and the reason for the spotlighting was because the sponsors of the idea believe the moment for action is approaching

Mr Waldman is New York state chairman for the Socialist party He belongs to the right wing of the party and shares the view of many other members that to get anywhere politically it will be necessary to negotiate new alliance and scrap the Socialist label Organized labor offers the most promising political tie-up His reference to Federation leadership of the new party was intended to reassure dubious Federationists that they won't have to play second fiddle to the socialists in such a movement

Bill Green and his immediate lieutenants still believe in keeping the Federation independent of politics But their grip on their followers is none too strong and insiders say that more of the younger element feels otherwise than you might suspect Green has been producing substantial achievement to hold his one—and [illegible] can [illegible] do so without [illegible] Roosevelt's help Conversely Mr Roosevelt's chances for renomination and reelection would be much poorer if organized labor went off on a political tangent of its own—so he needs to bolster Green [illegible] [illegible] job [illegible]

Diet

The New York Curb Exchange [illegible] worried about [illegible] of business [illegible] the past few months [illegible] exchanges still [illegible] those which have switched account of for a large proportion of the curb's trading of me The list includes such companies as Greyhound Corp Mergenthaler Machine National Aviation Standard Oil of Indiana Standard Oil of Kansas and Walgreen

The curb used to possess two attractions to offset the Big Board's higher prestige and broader market One was the easier listing requirements Many of the most active issues were not formally listed at all The other was the greater simplicity of manipulating a narrow and largely professional market Both these advantages have disappeared under securities commission rule where all listed companies must conform to uniform registration rules and manipulation is at least theoretically outlawed Hence the wave of emigration to the larger exchange with its superior trading facilities

This sort of thing is putting curb brokers on a starvation diet and officials are racking their brains for ways of getting new business to replace the parting guest There are two possibilities One is to build up the bond business hitherto neglected But there again the curb will meet hot competition from the big board—with Richard Whitney heading a drive to stimulate stock exchange bond trading The other is to solicit the listing of securities now traded over the counter as aggressively as the stock exchange has gone after the higher curb issues Something must be done quick—the boys can't squeeze their belts much tighter

Crossed

Financial insiders understand that Secretary Morgenthau will shortly authorize the renewed purchase of silver in the world market up to a price of 77 cents

The object will be to try to recapture the affections of the senate silver bloc and thereby gain their support for the President's new tax program In their present disgruntled state they are almost automatically opposed to anything Roosevelt wants The earlier political bargain between the administration and the silverites collapsed immediately after the price of the metal started to drop

Informed sources predict it will take more than such a modest gesture toward meeting their wishes to win the angry silver boosters back to their former fealty They feel they were crossed up and it won't be easy to convince them otherwise

DISTINCTION FOR MINGO

Mingo Junction in Jefferson county has the distinction of being the only place visited by Washington when he touched the Ohio side of the river at many points on his voyage down the river on his western trip in 1770 That was a populous center then and [illegible] Mingo probably is near exactly the same site as the town Washington stopped to see Mingo Bottoms an extended tract in the vicinity

Mingotown was a well known place long before there was any white settlement in these parts of country Washington and his friends [illegible] It was here that Washington [illegible] Crawford who later was defeated and burned at the stake by the Indians [illegible] Ohio [illegible] to [illegible]

On the afternoon of Oct 24 1770 Gen Washington and his Ohio river expedition party approached the mouth of Captina creek as [illegible] Captina Creek [illegible] Captina [illegible] the Ohio near [illegible] of Belmont [illegible]

Russian newspapers [illegible] accuse Japan of [illegible] along the Russian [illegible]

A [illegible] carries [illegible] to Japan that a continuation of these incidents [illegible] consequences [illegible] of Russia and Japan and the far east

If Russia and Japan have [illegible] equipment in the [illegible] machines and airplanes [illegible] miles of Tokyo would [illegible] enable other countries [illegible] worrying about Japan's [illegible] plan

England does not [illegible] Mussolini's plans in Africa [illegible] the question arises Will England close the Suez canal [illegible] for Italian troops and [illegible] to Abyssinia? Will Italian planes be forbidden to [illegible] Suez canal area?

The answer as to [illegible] Suez canal [illegible] Britain would [illegible] be NO England would [illegible] voluntarily provoke hostilities [illegible] Italy She really wants peace [illegible] how easily war could [illegible] French against German [illegible] lish against Italian or [illegible] against Russian

Ten Billion Questions

Germany undertakes to [illegible] lish a family tree for [illegible] its 66,000,000 inhabitants [illegible] means asking answering [illegible] down ten thousand million [illegible]

The sensible answer would [illegible] I descend from Adam [illegible] heaven knows how many [illegible] in my blood on the way [illegible] Hitler would not accept [illegible] Young couples getting marriage licenses are questioned [illegible] were your eight great grand [illegible] like? Did they have any [illegible] gypsy or Jewish blood?

Were they fond of [illegible] truth Did they have imagination [illegible] driving power?

Ten thousand million [illegible] questions would seem to set a record

From A P Sloan Jr

It is a pleasure to print here a letter from Alfred P Sloan [illegible] president of General Motors

I want to express to you [illegible] appreciation not only on my [illegible] half but on industry's behalf [illegible] your continued support to [illegible] cause It is not only a real [illegible] tribution to the industry [illegible] my opinion far broader in [illegible] fect than that

Mr Sloan refers to the automobile industry When you buy a [illegible] car you promote your family's happiness and your own [illegible] tribute wages to men that [illegible] the car and other sums to [illegible] that produce raw materials

Two California Girls

Yesterday Helen Wills [illegible] Helen Jacobs both of California fought their way to the semifinal round for the tennis championship at Wimbledon and the two California girls may fight out [illegible] championship between them which would be extremely gratifying [illegible] California less so to England

An Australian girl defeated [illegible] English champion Dorothy Round a Danish girl is counted on to defeat Helen Jacobs and prevent the amazing spectacle [illegible] two Californians beating [illegible] world which to Europe would seem too much even for California The situation shows what [illegible] year sunshine and exercise will do

Germans Salute

In Paris for the first time German veterans joined with veterans from eleven allied countries placing a wreath on the tomb [illegible] the unknown French soldier [illegible] veterans Germans included [illegible] ed this resolution

Men marching to war are [illegible] friends but enemies of the [illegible] country

Belgium alone among the [illegible] refused to join in the forget [illegible] forgive demonstration

The visit of German veterans [illegible] the French unknown soldier's grave had been kept secret [illegible] fear of Communist or other disturbances Only 200 were [illegible] when the German veterans [illegible] civilian dress stood beside [illegible] lied flags under the perpetual flame that burns above [illegible] known soldier's grave and [illegible] a moment's silence raised [illegible] arms in a Nazi salute to [illegible] dead and to the flags

Men To Work

Gen Johnson in charge [illegible] public works in New [illegible] City where he will spend [illegible] three hundred and twenty [illegible] dollars says he intends [illegible] men to work and intends [illegible] them work

When Gen Johnson says [illegible] it usually happens He is a [illegible] ful person If he does [illegible] men to work for government wages that will be good [illegible] Spending public millions [illegible] men to pretend to work [illegible] good business

Theories Change

Hope expressed at the State [illegible] that Mexico had [illegible] official attitude on [illegible] and religion apparently [illegible] dation President Cardenas [illegible] his cabinet that present [illegible] church-state problem [illegible] tion will be fully enforced

Referring to laws forbidding religious teaching in public [illegible] Cardenas declares his [illegible] give to the youth of the [illegible] rational concept of the [illegible]

BILL TERRY WANTS GREATER LEAD FOR NEW YORK GIANTS

Pitching Wobbling for Manager But Hitters Carry the Burden

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK July 3 — If at only [illegible] pitching [illegible] Manager Bill Terry of the [illegible] running New York Giants.

[illegible] If we [illegible] pitching [illegible] hitters we would be [illegible] games in front I know that you are going to say that eight and a half games are plenty that it's a runaway and all that sort of thing but it will be all right with me if we can run up a lead of 20 games

Suppose we go into a slump? Suppose we skid the way we did last September losing a seven game lead? A lot of things can happen before we are finished We are winning all we can now every day

Casey Stengel sitting with Terry wore a wry grin on his face while the pilot of the Giants had the floor at a gathering of baseball clans Casey had the last laugh on Bill at the close of the 1934 season Things haven't gone so well for Stengel and his Dodgers however since he convinced everybody that Brooklyn was still in the National League

The question before the house suggested Stengel is whether the seven clubs trailing the Giants are going to stay in the league When the Giants pitchers falter the hitters come through and sew up the game Sometimes Terry's staff doesn't need much help How are you going to stop an outfit like that?

Pitching Poorer

Although it arouses no sympathy among the other National League clubs it is a fact that the Giants have not had as consistently good pitching for the last few weeks as they did earlier in the season

With seven regulars hitting 300 or better and the club leading the league in stick work the Giants no longer can be regarded as a defensive outfit relying on its pitching staff and the breaks

The additional power furnished by Dick Bartell big Hank Leiber and Mark Koenig the jack of all infield trades has made New York the most formidable outfit in either major league

Not in at least 20 years has any National League club had a lead the size of the Giants margin at the approach of the half way mark

"Frank Merriwell" Finish Gives Presbies 3-2 Win

Pinch-Hitter Milt Pohler Poles Out Homer To Win Game from Epworth No 1

ONE of those finishes one reads about in [illegible] and sees on the silver screen enabled [illegible] softball team of the No 2 Sunday School [illegible] to [illegible] in first place and severely jolted Epworth No 1 [illegible] [illegible] last night in league competition

Staging a Frank Merriwell or [illegible] climax or [illegible] the [illegible] would care to call [illegible] Pohler ailing Presbyterian [illegible] out a home run in [illegible] inning in the role of pinch hitter to defeat John Clark's boys [illegible] to 2 at President field The hefty clout [illegible] into rightfield scored Bill Pohler and Lefty Clark ahead of the pinch hitter

Milt who has been confined to his bed by illness was replaced in the Presby lineup by Obie Oberlander Dick Walker turned in a creditable job of pitching in the absence of Freddy Vestal while Zig Snyder had allowed the Presbies but two hits before the fatal seventh inning No one was out when the hit came

Epworth Scores

The Methodists all but clinched their first victory of the season in the fifth inning when Shifler and Snyder singled with two men out and Aufenbaugh was safe on a misplay at first Miller Epworth first baseman gained the third hit of the inning but Gamble was out at first

Other first division teams scored wins in last night's rounds as Trinity upset Calvary 5 to 3 at Steam Shovel field Lee Street swamped First Reformed at Lincoln and St Mary beat out Epworth Seniors 7 to 4 at Garfield park Teams chalked up victories by almost the same scores as in the first round meetings

Two brilliant catches in the field by Sterling Somerlot played an important part in the Baptists win over Calvary Somerlot in left field took two hard driven balls on the run which probably would have gone for homers had they got away from the Baptist outfielder Four free tickets to first and three hits off Christ gave Trinity its five runs in the first two innings

St Mary Wins

Loose playing and a barrage of St Mary hits enabled the Irish to down the Epworth Seniors St Mary scored three runs in the first inning as Hogan singled and Birchson and Francis Robbins poled out hits which got away from the outfielders for home runs Four hits and a base on balls gave the winners four runs in the third

A Methodist rally in the seventh was cut short after two runs had been scored Edgington and Ballenger singled and came home on [illegible] [illegible]

By [illegible] Day the baseball season is about half over and the [illegible] settled down to their natural [illegible] Their offensive and defensive strength become definitely apparent and their weaknesses either have become [illegible] The best teams usually have started their surge [illegible]

With this axiom in mind the [illegible] predict that the World Series will be an all New York affair

The Giants with a healthy lead over the rest of the National League teams have shown both the offensive and defensive strength to pull out an easy win [illegible]

They have Hubbell Parmelee Fitzsimmons Schumacher and others to throw up very small balls to the opposition while their own batting list has become something of a murderer's row When the pitchers fail the batters come through

In the American League the experts hand the gonfalon to the Yankees although they are not so positive about it as they are with the Giants Gomez has not shown the effectiveness of other years and Lou Gehrig is finding it hard to meet the ball with his old regularity

Then there is that little matter of the Detroit Tigers dogging along paced by the batting Hank Greenberg and a good pitching staff

Roy Parmelee a faltering member of the Giants pitching staff went the route yesterday as the leaders defeated the Phillies 8 to 4 It was the ninth victory for Parmelee who had failed in his three previous starts

The Brooklyn Dodgers got in the victory column at the expense of the lagging Boston Braves 5 to 0

The Cardinals climbed back into third place in the National League by blanking the Pittsburgh Pirates 7 to 0 with Wild Bill Hallahan pitching his first complete victory of the season

The Chicago Cubs defeated the Cincinnati Reds 9 to 3

In the American League the Yankees conquered the Philadelphia Athletics coming from behind to win 8 to 5 The Boston Red Sox put on a five run rally in the seventh to beat Washington 6-5 and the Detroit Tigers stepped over Cleveland into second place by defeating the Indians 8 to 3

Frisch Rests Ailing Legs, And Whitehead Steals Job

Frankie Frisch has been taking his cuts at the ball for 16 bruising big league years and the legs of the one time Fordham Flash are feeling the strain So Burgess Whitehead has become very nearly the regular second baseman of the St Louis Cardinals

By The Associated Press

ST LOUIS July 3 — Battle scarred legs that have carried him over National League ball diamonds for 16 fighting hustling years finally are creaking [illegible] complaining to the point where even Frankie Frisch has to give sympathetic ear

And while the one time Fordham Flash takes his [illegible] off the firing line of the Cardinals with more and more frequency his grumblings about his aching pins and his fast graying hair are tempered with ever increasing signs of satisfaction at the way young Burgess Whitehead is responding to his tutelage both around second base and at bat

Outhitting the Boss

An early season spike wound in the hand and a two-day suspension have combined with the complaining legs to reduce Frisch's playing hours this season but any baseball man will tell you Frankie would be in there in spite of bad hands and legs if he weren't well satisfied with the fellow who was filling his shoes

Whitehead a 24 year old North Carolinian who came to the Cards via his state university the Houston farm of the Cards in the Texas league and Columbus O has settled down at second base in the last month and gives evidence of digging himself in there as the permanent successor to Frisch Through June he played twice as many games as Frankie and out hitting his manager by around 40 points looked pretty solid

Shuah I'm Thrilled

Soft spoken Burgess says Shuah I'm plenty thrilled to be in there trying to fill Mr Frisch's shoes at second base I got in 100 ball games last season switching around second shortstop and third base as general relief but I feel a lot better now that I'm playin the same position all the time Cohse you can hit better too playin more regularly and Mr Frisch has been swell to me grand as any manager could be about givin me tips on batting and fielding that position

He's a hustler all right and he's pretty tough in there too getting those ball games won but he's my model of a ball player I'm tryin to do everything just like he does except that head first sliding business reckon I'll leave all that up to him and to that Peppah Mahtin

Whitehead is somewhat on the slim side compared to his chunky boss and model He was a Phi Beta Kappa honor student at North Carolina where he also starred in basketball He played three seasons with the Columbus Red Birds American Association farm of the Cards and hit over 300 each season He's around 350 this summer and with Martin and Terry Moore give the Cards three of the best base stealers in the league

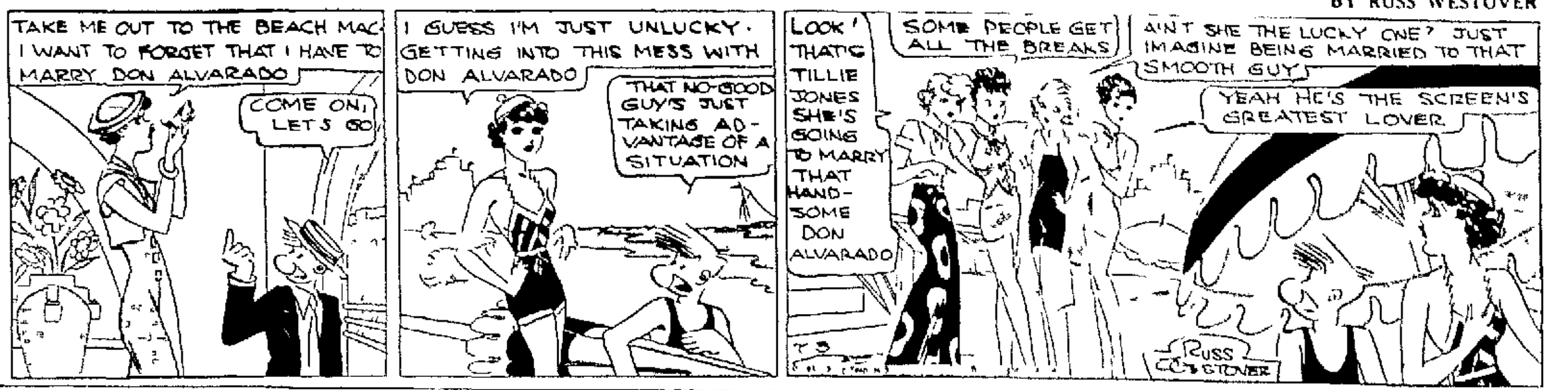
TILLIE THE TOILER

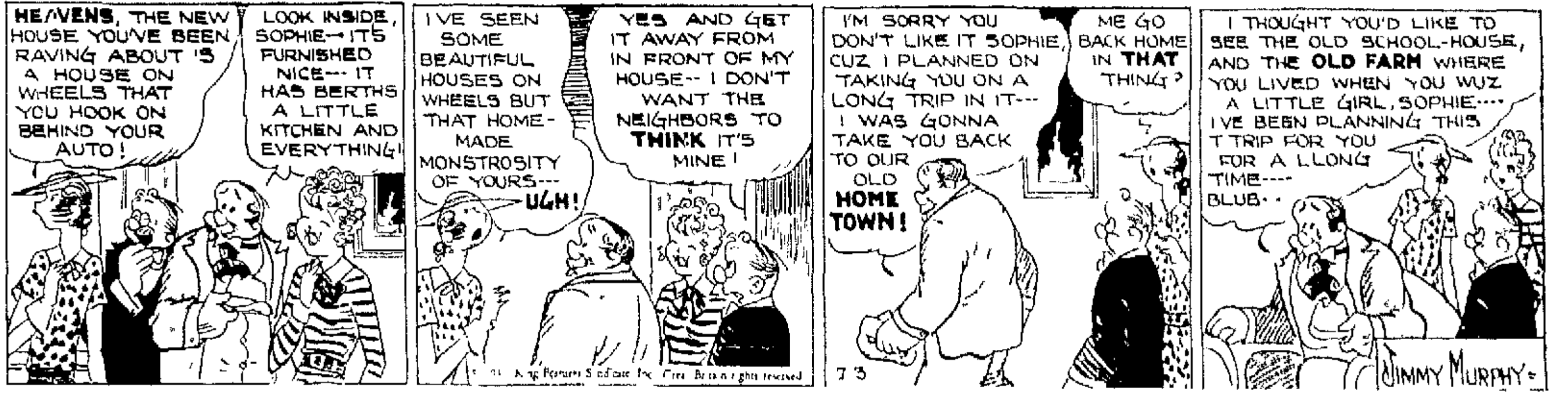
BY RUSS WESTOVER



TAKE ME OUT TO THE BEACH MAC I WANT TO FORGET THAT I HAVE TO MARRY DON ALVARADO
COME ON, LETS GO
I GUESS I'M JUST UNLUCKY. GETTING INTO THIS MESS WITH DON ALVARADO
THAT NO-GOOD GUY'S JUST TAKING ADVANTAGE OF A SITUATION
LOOK! THAT'S TILLIE JONES SHE'S GOING TO MARRY THAT HANDSOME DON ALVARADO
SOME PEOPLE GET ALL THE BREAKS
AIN'T SHE THE LUCKY ONE? JUST IMAGINE BEING MARRIED TO THAT SMOOTH GUY
YEAH HE'S THE SCREEN'S GREATEST LOVER
RUSS WESTOVER

TOOTS AND CASPER

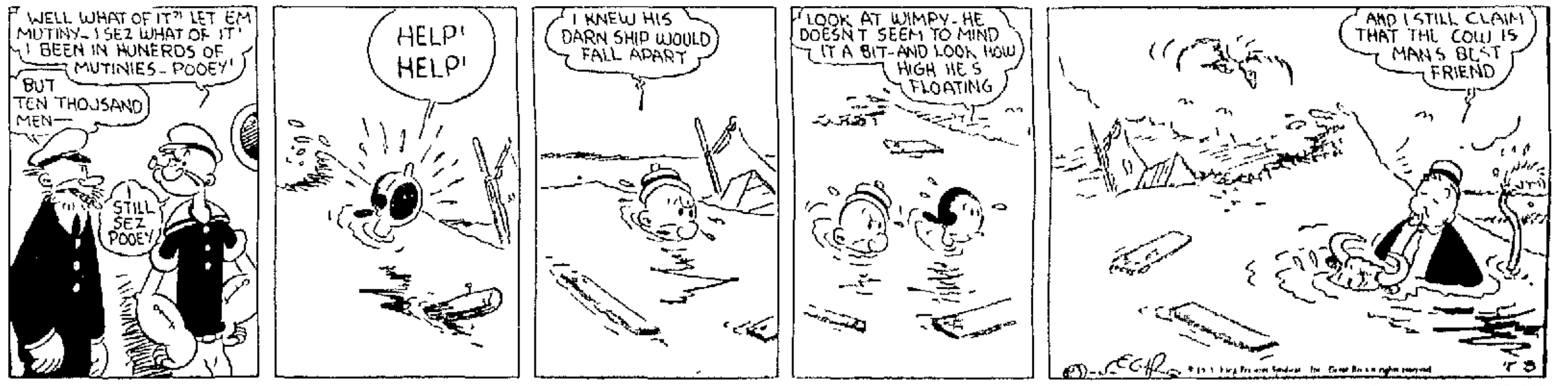
BY JIMMY MURPHY



HEAVENS, THE NEW HOUSE YOU'VE BEEN RAVING ABOUT IS A HOUSE ON WHEELS THAT YOU HOOK ON BEHIND YOUR AUTO!
LOOK INSIDE, SOPHIE—IT'S FURNISHED NICE— IT HAS BERTHS A LITTLE KITCHEN AND EVERYTHING!
I'VE SEEN SOME BEAUTIFUL HOUSES ON WHEELS BUT THAT HOME-MADE MONSTROSITY OF YOURS— UGH!
YES AND GET IT AWAY FROM IN FRONT OF MY HOUSE— I DON'T WANT THE NEIGHBORS TO THINK IT'S MINE!
I'M SORRY YOU DON'T LIKE IT SOPHIE, CUZ I PLANNED ON TAKING YOU ON A LONG TRIP IN IT— I WAS GONNA TAKE YOU BACK TO OUR OLD HOME TOWN!
ME GO BACK HOME IN THAT THING?
I THOUGHT YOU'D LIKE TO SEE THE OLD SCHOOL-HOUSE, AND THE OLD FARM WHERE YOU LIVED WHEN YOU WUZ A LITTLE GIRL, SOPHIE— I'VE BEEN PLANNING THIS T TRIP FOR YOU FOR A LLONG TIME— BLUB—
JIMMY MURPHY

THIMBLE THEATER

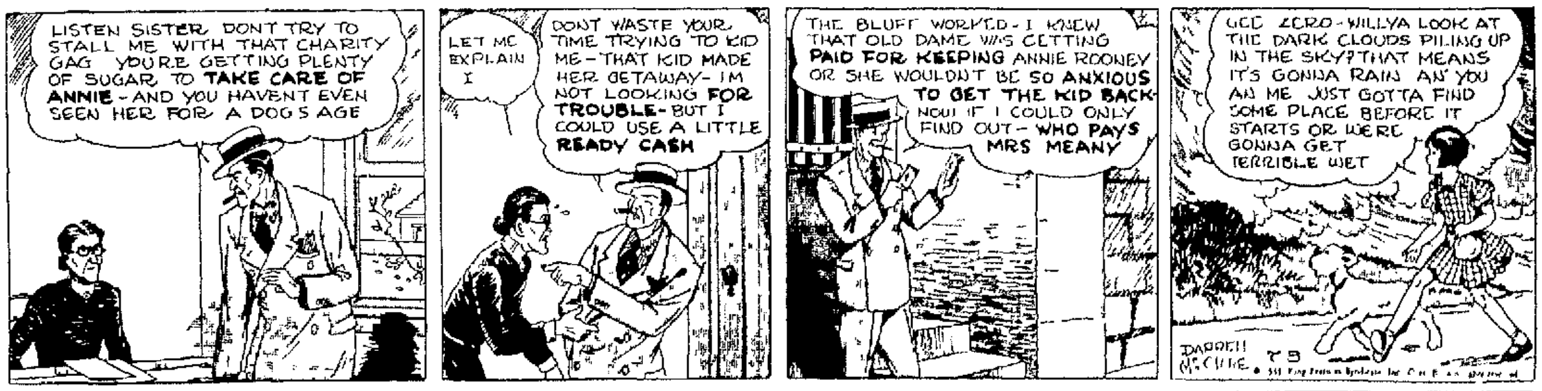
BY SEGAR



WELL WHAT OF IT? LET EM MUTINY—I SEZ WHAT OF IT! I BEEN IN HUNERDS OF MUTINIES— POOEY!
BUT TEN THOUSAND MEN—
I STILL SEZ POOEY!
HELP! HELP!
I KNEW HIS DARN SHIP WOULD FALL APART
LOOK AT WIMPY—HE DOESN'T SEEM TO MIND IT A BIT—AND LOOK HOW HIGH HE'S FLOATING
AND I STILL CLAIM THAT THE COW IS MAN'S BEST FRIEND
SEGAR

ANNIE ROONEY

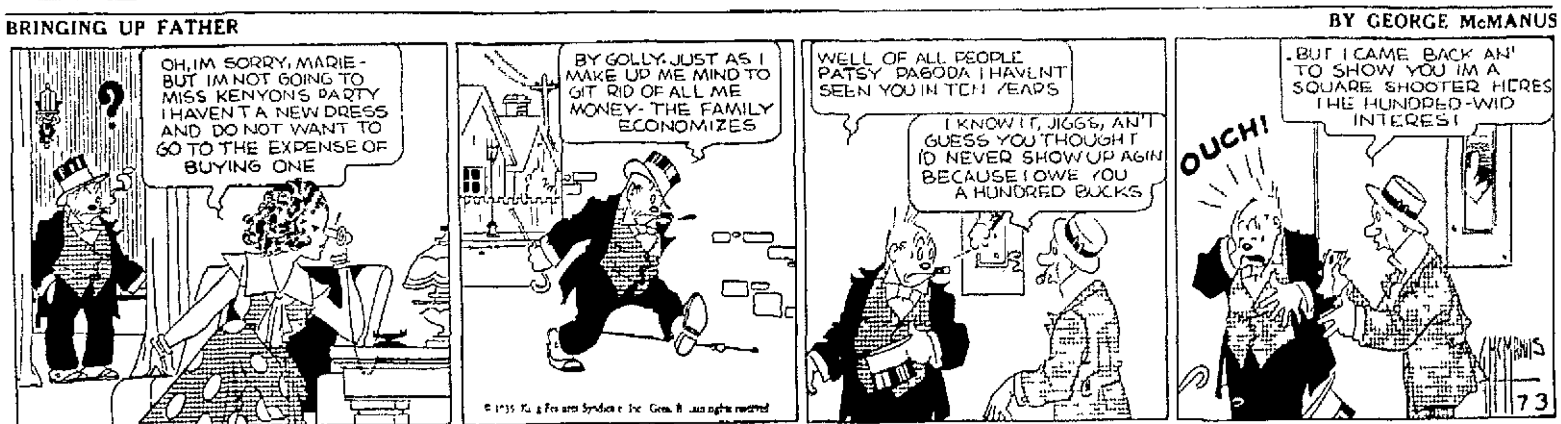
BY BRANDON WALSH



LISTEN SISTER DON'T TRY TO STALL ME WITH THAT CHARITY GAG YOU'RE GETTING PLENTY OF SUGAR TO TAKE CARE OF ANNIE—AND YOU HAVEN'T EVEN SEEN HER FOR A DOG'S AGE
LET ME EXPLAIN I
DON'T WASTE YOUR TIME TRYING TO KID ME—THAT KID MADE HER GETAWAY— I'M NOT LOOKING FOR TROUBLE—BUT I COULD USE A LITTLE READY CASH
THE BLUFF WORKED—I KNEW THAT OLD DAME WAS GETTING PAID FOR KEEPING ANNIE ROONEY OR SHE WOULDN'T BE SO ANXIOUS TO GET THE KID BACK NOW IF I COULD ONLY FIND OUT—WHO PAYS MRS MEANY
GEE ZERO—WILLYA LOOK AT THE DARK CLOUDS PILING UP IN THE SKY? THAT MEANS IT'S GONNA RAIN AN' YOU AN ME JUST GOTTA FIND SOME PLACE BEFORE IT STARTS OR WE'RE GONNA GET TERRIBLE WET
DARRELL McCLURE

BRINGING UP FATHER

BY GEORGE McMANUS



OH, I'M SORRY, MARIE—BUT I'M NOT GOING TO MISS KENYON'S PARTY I HAVEN'T A NEW DRESS AND DO NOT WANT TO GO TO THE EXPENSE OF BUYING ONE
BY GOLLY, JUST AS I MAKE UP ME MIND TO GIT RID OF ALL ME MONEY—THE FAMILY ECONOMIZES
WELL OF ALL PEOPLE PATSY PAGODA I HAVEN'T SEEN YOU IN TEN YEARS
I KNOW IT, JIGGS, AN' I GUESS YOU THOUGHT I'D NEVER SHOW UP AGIN BECAUSE I OWE YOU A HUNDRED BUCKS
OUCH!
BUT I CAME BACK AN' TO SHOW YOU I'M A SQUARE SHOOTER HERE'S THE HUNDRED—WID INTEREST

Do Chorus Girls Do on Their Day Off?

—They Are Interviewed in New York as Sunday Shows Loom—

R: "I never ...noon symphony ... miserable if I ..."

RUTH SHAW: "I help mother around the house. Then I have boy friends who take me dancing."

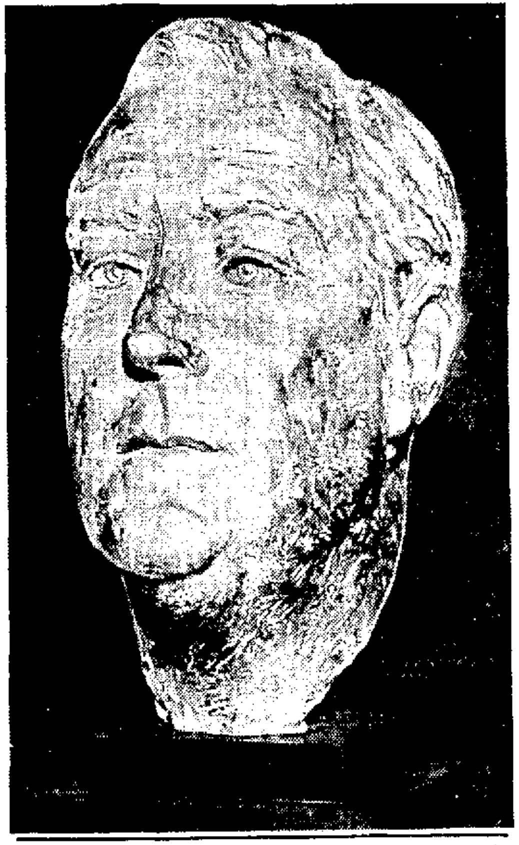
CORNELIA JOHNSTON: "Sunday performances would mean that I would have to leave home —and my knitting."

EVELYN KELLY: "I attend church on Sunday, then go horseback riding and practice my fencing."

NOT SO BAD!—Harvesting the wheat crop in Kansas isn't so bad when the surroundings are as attractive as this. The three pretty farmerettes shocking the golden grain on a farm near Wichita are, left to right, Anita Hooper, Martha Foulk and Leta Faye Baer.

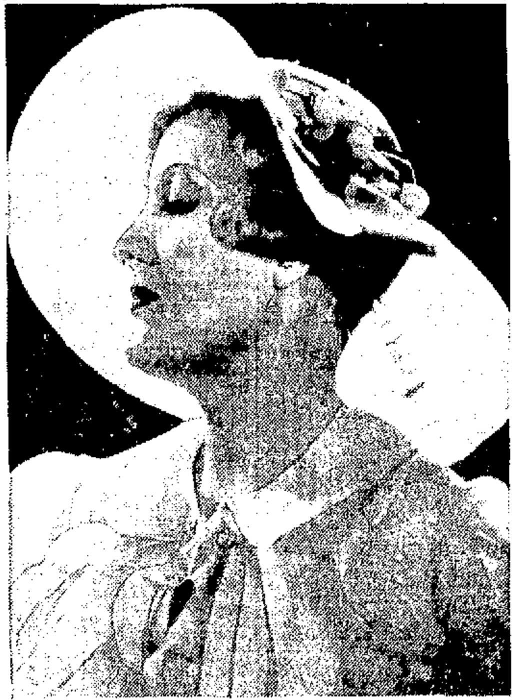
WITH ONLY THE HEAVENS ABOVE—Through arduous and dangerous mountain climbing these men have conquered the perilous Augstengrat in the Swiss Alps near Davos.

IR SAILS— ...e, Jr., asbestos ... Europe, doesn't ...h opinion of his ...dwards Rochelle, ... reconciled when ... She remained in ...w Rochelle, N. Y.

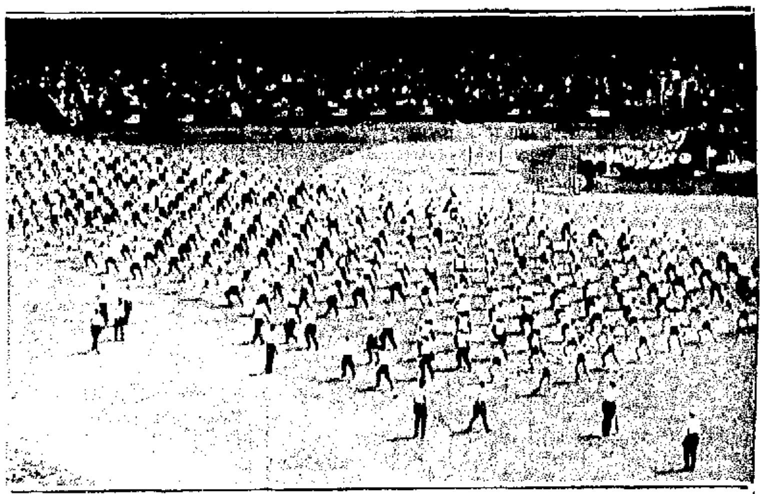


ROOSEVELT IN BRONZE—All the strength and vigor of both the artist and the subject are embodied in this forceful bronze bust of President Roosevelt by Jo Davidson, noted American sculptor. The bust now is on display in a New York art gallery.

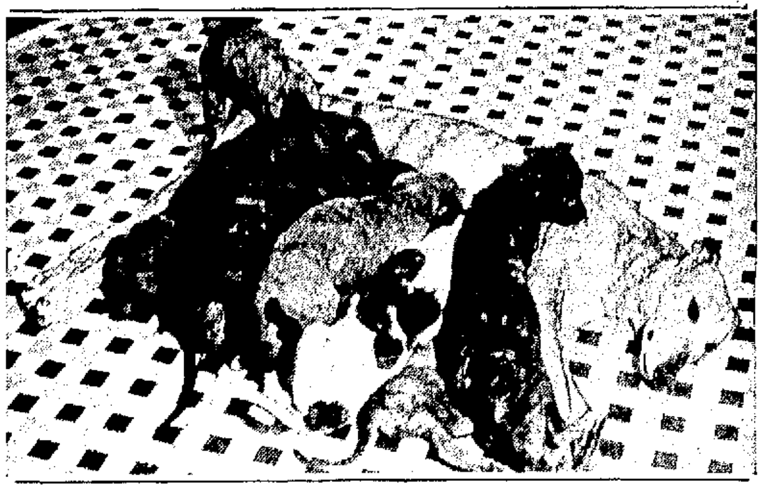
Fashions of the Fashionable



SUMMER CHAPEAU—Verree Teasdale of the films blossoms forth in a very transparent and summery hat of a horsehair grain in pale blue. It has a double brim and is garnished with a wreath band of frosted leaves and cherries.



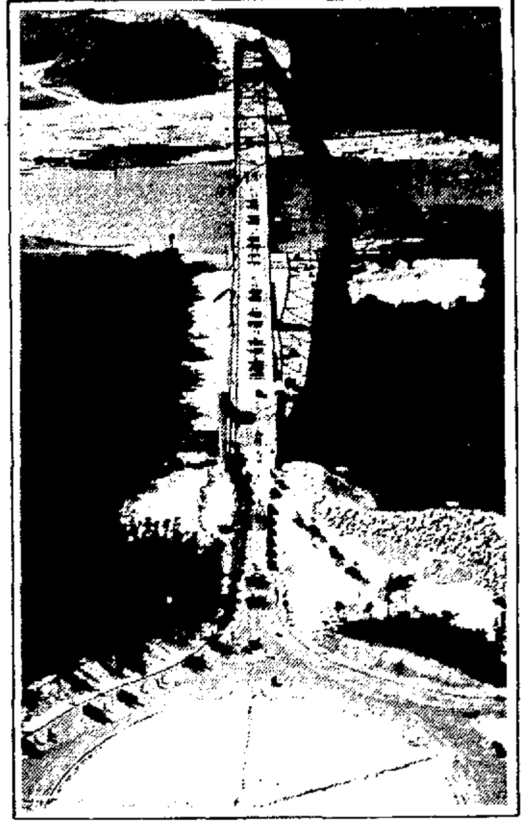
SOKOLS REIGN IN RHYTHM—Poetry and rhythm of beautifully developed bodies in motion characterize spectacle staged in Cleveland by 2,500 members of the Czechoslovak Sokol Union of America.



UNADECEMLETS!—Eleven at one time! They're unadecemlets, six more than quintuplets, and seven more than usual for the number of puppies ordinarily born to thoroughbred greyhounds. "I don't know what we're going to do with them—because we have to get up every time they cry at night and feed them," says their young owner, Margaret McIver, 13, of San Francisco.

...AKE WITH A ... Henriques Diaz ... glove in New ... police will ... in the glove ... generated by ... attached to the ... powerful man ...made helpless.

GARBAGE COLLECTORS ON STRIKE—There garbage collectors of New Orleans, pictured on strike, hold out their empty hands after not having been paid for several months. Uncle Sam stepped in with the necessary money following political row between Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley and Senator Huey P. Long, which had tied up municipal funds.



NEW BRIDGE OVER CAPE COD CANAL—Thousands cross new bridge over Cape Cod canal at Bourne, Mass., as it is opened to traffic.

WANTED

a better word for Service

● We want a word for the hundred-and-one ways we Hotel Clevelanders try to make your stay more comfortable.

—For the interest the floor clerk takes in getting messages to you, finding your friends, relieving you of many little details.

—For the genuine welcoming smile from managers and the ways they prove that this entire Hotel is managed for you.

—For the profusion of flowers, the luxurious lounges, the extra-crisp linen, the restful rooms, the atmosphere everywhere that we're glad you're here and we want you back.

Service is a weak word for these attentions you'll find at Hotel Cleveland. Come and experience them, then you'll know what we mean.
